Dear

We are writing to inform you about your claim for Employment Insurance benefits starting 2019. If it was to your advantage, we delayed the start date of your claim.

You received vacation pay from your employer. This income, before deductions, is considered earnings and a total of $ will be applied against your Employment Insurance claim from

We are aware of these monies that you have received and have already considered them. Please do not include this amount on your reports. You must, however, report all other earnings and pension income you receive or may receive.

You will have to serve a waiting period during which no benefits can be paid. As a result of legislative changes effective January 1, 2017, the waiting period is one week for claims starting on that date or later. For claims starting prior to January 1, 2017, the waiting period remains at two weeks.

It is important that you file your reports. If you do not and your situation changes, you could lose benefits.

If you have any documents or information not previously submitted which could change this (these) decision(s), please forward it immediately to the address indicated on the letterhead. If you would like more details regarding this (these) decision(s), please contact us at either 1-800-206-7218 or at a Service Canada Centre.

Our decisions are based on the Employment Insurance Act and its Regulations. If you have already provided all pertinent information and still disagree with this (these) decision(s), you have 30 days following the date of this letter (or from the date you were verbally notified, whichever occurred first) to make a formal request for reconsideration to the Commission. For more information on how to request a reconsideration and to access the Request for Reconsideration of an Employment Insurance decision form, please visit www.canada.ca/en/services/benefits/ei/ei-reconsideration.html, contact us at 1-800-206-7218 or visit the nearest Service Canada Centre.

Using our EI Internet Reporting Service (www.canada.ca/ei) or EI Telephone Reporting Service (1-800-531-7555) is the most convenient way to receive your Employment Insurance benefits.

My Service Canada Account (MSCA) is a convenient and secure way to access your EI information. Sign up for MSCA by visiting www.canada.ca/my-service-canada-account.

Yours sincerely,
