

City of Edmonton's Community Safety and Well-being Task Force

Jaimy Miller is the Director of Indigenous Relations at the City of Edmonton, and has been with the City of Edmonton in various roles in the Indigenous Relations Office for 10 years. She has two Masters degrees, the first in Anthropology from McMaster University and the second in Public Administration from Queen's University. She was born and raised in the Edmonton area, is Métis with roots in Hastings Lake and St. Albert, Alta, and is a descendant of the Papaschase Nation and German settlers.